Detailed Description

Chorus

Dancers are hopping continuously throughout the chorus. (Yes, this is a "rest-free" dance.)

Beat 1: hop in place and clash with partner. Beat 2: clash with partner while passing by the right shoulder, roughly at a 45º angle. Beat 3: turn right (so each side is facing up or down the line) and clash once more with partner. Beat 4: advance to the next person up or down the line and clash. (If you have no one left to clash with, turn over your left shoulder and start dancing back up or down the set in the opposite direction.) Beats 5-6: advance and clash again (each time with one more dancer turning out and following up or down the set) Beat 7: last dancer turns 270º over left shoulder. Remaining dancers turn 90º to face across the set. Beat 8: dancers move back in to normal set distance.

Repeat entire sequence on beats 9-16.

Figures

Dance On & Rounds

The dancers enter from the sidelines. When they get to the center, they continue in a circle, forming the set in time for the chorus.

The dancers enter as two separate groups, #1-4 in one group, and #5-8 in the other, like two wheels of a bicycle.

On beats 9-12, the "spokes" of the bicycle wheels come down one at a time. On beat 9, the first dancer in each group (#1 and #5) bring their sticks down. On beat 10, #3 and #7 lower their sticks. On beat 11, #4 and #8 lower theirs, and on beat 12, #2 and #6 lower theirs. The dancers continue dancing around with their "spokes" down for beats 13-16.

Cross and Swing

Dancers cross the set (passing by the "stick" (right) shoulder) and continue well past their partner on beats 1-4. On beats 5-6, the dancers turn over their "stick" (right) shoulder and switch the stick to the left hand. On beats 7-8, the dancers charge in toward their partner, right arm extended, catching the partner by the waist (from the front). On beats 9-14, the dancers go around their partners, continuing to hold their partner by the waist. On beats 15-16, the dancers break apart and end up in their original positions.

J-Loops

Beat 1 (right foot): dancers step in place Beat 2 (left foot): dancers surge forward to just past their partner Beat 3 (right): dancers slide to the right, passing behind their partner Beat 4 (left): dancers move slightly backward into a single straight line Beat 5 (right): dancers move backward, with the right foot crossing behind the left so that the motion is diagonally back toward their original place. Beats 6-8: dancers pass by the right shoulder to their partner's place, then turn around over the stick (right) shoulder to face their partner.

The figure repeats on beats 9-16, with the dancers ending up back in their original positions.

"Motorcycle" Hey

The dancers move in a figure-eight pattern. It starts with #5 crossing through the center to position #4. Immediately after that, #3 crosses through the center to position #6. Dancers follow each other through the figure eight, alternating crosses in the middle. At the end of 16 beats, the dancers are back in their original places.

At the end of the motorcycle hey, #1 leads the dancers off and out of the set.
